Since May 2002, the Department of Geography, History and Environmental Studies is operating the Laboratory for Spatial Analysis. The equipment, installed in cooperation with the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, facilitates teaching and research in fields of Geographical Information Systems (GIS). Together with remote sensing, GIS offers students and researchers alike sophisticated tools applied in spatial analysis. By nature, the Laboratory is a multi-purpose and trans-faculty component in the Department of Geography, History and Environmental Studies. The Laboratory continues to play a crucial role in the departmental undergraduate and postgraduate education and research as well as in human capacity building programmes of the private and public sectors of the economy.

Station Co-ordinator: Mr R Tyson, BMus, BA Comm (Unisa), MMus (UCT)

UNAM Radio 97.4 was established during the year 2000 as part of the University’s mission to increase practical student involvement with media and highlight UNAM activities to the wider community.

Students are encouraged to develop their technical and presentation skills and produce a variety of programmes for the community, focusing on issues such as HIV/AIDS, teenage pregnancy, alcohol abuse and job creation.

The station is equipped with the latest digital computer technology, consisting of a presentation suite with a wide variety of computer-based music and jingles, as well as mixing capacity for other sources, including cassette and CD. In addition, guests can be accommodated for interview purposes and a hybrid on-air system allows for telephone callers to be placed on air.

The production suite is equipped with four-channel digital editing for mixing purposes, and is used as a training facility for students specializing in broadcast production. Public service announcements are also mixed in this facility along with pre-recorded features, interviews and documentaries.

The station broadcasts 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and is operated fully by students, who are responsible for technical and presentation operations. A series of feature programmes are presented, focusing on issues of relevance to the listenership, including health, economy, education and careers guidance. Local talent, especially students trying to gain exposure for their music, is featured in a special programme broadcast on Fridays.

Transmissions from NAMCOL and Voice of America are also broadcast, giving listeners a variety of informative programme material from international broadcasters.

Other programmes include popular music features, including requests and messages for the UNAM campus community and special music features, including regular programmes with music from francophone and lusophone countries.

Admission is based on places available in Courses, subjects and programmes and is awarded on the basis of merit.

C.1.4 In addition to the above, admission to the Tourism, Geography and Environmental Studies courses require at least a D symbol in Mathematics on NSSC level or the equivalent and/or at least a C symbol in Geography at NSSC level or the equivalent.

C.1.5 The University reserves the right to interview students before admission.

C.1.6 Certain Courses, subjects or programmes may require special written application by and/or screening of candidates before admission is considered. Candidates who do not meet the requirements for admission to such Courses, subjects or programmes may, however, register for any other Courses, subjects or programmes to which they are admitted subject to relevant University and Faculty regulations.

C.1.7 Admission can also be considered for persons who qualify through the Mature Age Entry Scheme upon successful completion of the relevant examinations as set out in the General Regulations (cf. 7.4 Mature Age Entry Scheme in the General Information and Regulations Yearbook). A special application form is available for this purpose.

C.1.8 Please read this section in conjunction with the academic conditions stipulated in the General Information and Regulations Yearbook.

C.2 Duration of Study

E. BACHELOR'S DEGREE PROGRAMMES
E.1 Bachelor of Arts (Honours) BA (Hons) (13BART)

E.1.1 Introduction
The BA (Hons) degree programme is a general programme in the sense that students select their own minor and major subjects from the available humanities and social sciences offerings, subject to University and Faculty regulations. Students therefore in effect compile their own degree programme. It is recommended that the compilation of a student’s degree programme is done in consultation with the Faculty Officer, and where advised, with the relevant departments. Students should also consult the relevant subject regulations before they decide on their subjects. Apart from the general BA degree programme outlined in this section, specialised BA degree programmes exist for which set curricula are prescribed. Refer to the regulations for the specialised programmes for further information (cf. E.2 – E.7).

E.1.2 Admission

E.1.2.1 Refer to E.1 Admission under E. Regulations Pertaining to Undergraduate Studies in the Faculty in this yearbook.

E.1.2.2 Certain subjects require specific qualifications at NSSCO (or the equivalent) level for admission. Consult the relevant subject regulations in section F of this yearbook.

E.1.3 Curriculum Compilation

E.1.3.1 Overall Structure

E.1.3.1.1 The BA degree is a double-major qualification consisting of two (2) major subjects taken up to fourth year level, one (1) minor subject taken up to third year level and one (1) subject taken at first year level only (plus the University Core Curriculum Courses at first year level).

E.1.3.1.2 Each subject consists of a number of Courses (and equivalent credits) at each year level:
- Each first year subject consists of two (2) Courses (32 credits).
- Each second year subject consists of three (3) Courses (48 credits).
- Each third year subject that is taken as a major subject consists of three (3) Courses (48 credits).
- A third year subject that is taken as a minor subject consists of two (2) Courses (32 credits).
- Each fourth year (major) subject consists of four (4) Courses (64 credits).

E.1.3.1.3 The BA degree programme consists of a total of 36 Courses (544 credits) at the various year levels in the various subjects as outlined above, all of which a student must pass in order to graduate (cf. E.4.2.1).

E.1.3.1.4 The overall structure of the BA degree programme can be schematically represented as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year Level</th>
<th>UNAM Core Curriculum (16 credits)</th>
<th>Lang. Centre Core Courses (32 credits)</th>
<th>SUBJECT A Major Subject 1 (200 credits)</th>
<th>SUBJECT B Major Subject 2 (168 credits)</th>

E.1.3.2.1 Subjects

Students select their four (4) subjects in the first year from four different groups below, subject to the relevant Faculty and subject regulations (cf. F).

A student may not select more than one subject from any one group.

Minor These subjects can be taken as minor subjects only, i.e. only up to third year level. A student may not take more than one (1) minor subject.

E.1.3.2.2 Students should consult the relevant subject regulations and course descriptors in section F in this yearbook before they register for any subject.

E.1.3.2.3 A student may not register for more than one (1) subject from any one group above.

E.1.3.2.4 A student may not register for more than one (1) minor subject.

Refer to the relevant subject regulations in section F in this yearbook for details and consult the relevant Department well in advance.
E.1.3.3 First Year Level

At first year level students take the University Core Curriculum Courses plus four (4) subjects from the list of approved major and minor subjects in the Faculty, of which at least three (3) subjects should be approved major subjects (cf. G.1.3.2). The normal first year curriculum of a student registered in the BA degree programme will therefore consist of eleven (11) Courses (144 credits), compiled as follows:

E.1.3.4 Second Year Level

At second year level students proceed with three (3) of the four (4) subjects taken in the first year. The fourth subject (“Subject A” above) is discontinued after its Courses/credits at first year level have been passed. The normal second year level curriculum of a student registered in the BA degree programme will therefore consist of nine (9) Courses (144 credits), compiled as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>

E.1.3.5 Third Year Level

At third year level students proceed with the three (3) subjects taken at second year level. At this point the student must choose his/her two (2) major subjects. The remaining subject will become the minor subject (“Subject B” above). The normal third year level curriculum of a student registered in the BA degree programme will therefore consist of eight (8) Courses (128 credits), compiled as follows:

E.1.3.6.2
At fourth year level students proceed with the two (2) major subjects selected at third year level. The minor subject is discontinued (after all its Courses/credits at first, second and third year level have been passed prior to admission to the fourth year level). The normal fourth year level curriculum of a student registered in the BA degree programme will therefore consist of seven (7) Courses (128 credits), compiled as follows:

E.5. Bachelor of Arts in Social Work (Honours) BA (Social Work) (Hons) (13BASW)

E.5.1 Introduction

Social work is a profession dedicated to enhancing human capacity to solve complex social problems in order to create a more humane and just society. It is a profession that supports individuals, families, groups and communities in a changing society and creates social conditions favourable to the wellbeing of people and society. One of the cornerstones of social work practice is the focus on the strengths, as opposed to the shortcomings, of individuals, families and communities so that these can be deployed to find innovative solutions for complex social problems. The profession is characterised by a steadfast commitment towards social development and social justice in the service of empowering individuals, families and communities to meet their needs.

Social work focuses on releasing human power in individuals to reach their potential and contribute to the collective good of society; it emphasizes releasing social power to create changes in society, social institutions, and social policy, which in turn create opportunities for individuals. Social work practitioners work with people in ways that strengthen their sense of competence, link them with needed resources, and promote organisational and institutional change so that the structures of society respond to the needs of all societal members (NASW, 1981). Additionally, social workers engage in research to contribute to social work theory and evaluate practice methods.

The four-year Bachelor’s of Arts in Social Work (Honours) is an intensive course with theory and field practice. The uniqueness of this programme is that students are exposed to intensive experimental learning through the Field Education Programme. Thus, students have the opportunity to work directly with community field partners, getting on the ground experience and offering countless hours of capacity to those organisations. The training under this programme is regulated by the Social Work and Psychology Act, No. 6 of 2004 and satisfies the professional and legal requirements for registration as a social worker with the Health Professions Council of Namibia which is a requirement for continued registration in the course. The social work programme aims to provide students with the necessary knowledge, skills and understanding to deal positively with problems that arise in the interaction between people and their environment and to empower those involved to deal with their problems in a self-reliant way. Students in this programme are diverse; representing a spectrum of cultures and life experiences. That range of differences enriches the classroom by creating a learning community that enhance growth and learning in an intellectually stimulating and culturally responsive environment. The transition from a student to a professional is carefully moulded by a group of qualified and experienced faculty.

The training under this programme is regulated by the Social Work and Psychology Act, No. 6 of 2004 and satisfies the professional and legal requirements for registration as a social worker with the Health Professions Council of Namibia which is a requirement for continued registration in the course.

Few professions offer more diverse employment opportunities than social work. Social workers serve as counsellors (e.g., in adoption, bereavement, domestic violence, vocational and rehabilitation, hospice, mental health, substance abuse, youth services); as service coordinators and case managers (e.g., in health care, child welfare, housing, human resources, public affairs, student life, employee assistance programs; as therapists (e.g., child, adolescent, marriage and family); as administrators in public and private human service agencies; as community development workers, public policy analysts; and in juvenile and adult justice systems, to name a few. Social workers are found in governmental agencies, private institutions, as well as in voluntary welfare organisations and non-governmental organisations.

E.6.1 Introduction

In light of the tourism potential ascribed to Namibia, the qualification of the four year BA degree in Tourism-Heritage (Honours) programme provides an academic skills-based education for students who intend to enter careers in the tourism-heritage field in areas such as promotion, planning, management or policy-making in tourism-heritage, as well as research and publishing relating to tourism-heritage and culture. The programme subscribes to trans-disciplinary learning paradigms nurtured at UNAM. Its purpose is to establish confidence, capacity and ability to exercise professional judgment pertaining to decision-making, tasks and responsibilities inherent in the private and public sector of tourism-heritage and culture to the benefit of society. The BA degree in tourism-heritage inter alia responds to employment opportunities relating to the sector of tourism-heritage focusing on branding “culture” in addition to “nature” and “landscapes”. The BA degree in Tourism-Heritage Studies furthers students’ knowledge and skills in the socio-cultural domain, including language, heritage, music, art and history of the Namibian society. Students no longer do communication, so a foreign language course (instead of communication) and presentation training offered in the Faculty constitute an indispensable complement to the programme.

Programme Convenor: Dr M Akawa (Tel. 206 3267 – E-mail: makawa@unam.na)

E.6.2 Exit Objectives

Upon completion of this programme students will be able to:
- apply their skills-based knowledge in professional domains of the public and private sector of the tourism industry
- analyse and evaluate problem formations evolving from institutional, commercial, socio-cultural and environmental tourism activities
- design professional solutions
- demonstrate confidence, capacity and ability in professional judgment and decision-making
- employ professional ethics in dealing with tasks and responsibilities inherent in the private and public sector of the tourism industry to the benefit of society

E.6.1 Introduction

In the light of the tourism potential ascribed to Namibia, the qualification of the four year BA degree in Tourism Management Studies (Honours) programme provides an academic skills-based education for students who intend to enter careers in the tourism-management field in areas such as promotion, planning, management or policy-making in tourism-management, as well as research and publishing relating to tourism-management and culture. The programme subscribes to trans-disciplinary learning paradigms nurtured at UNAM. Its purpose is to establish confidence, capacity and ability to exercise professional judgment pertaining to decision-making, tasks and responsibilities inherent in the private and public sector of tourism-heritage and culture to the benefit of society. The BA degree in tourism-heritage inter alia responds to employment opportunities relating to the sector of tourism-heritage focusing on branding "culture" in addition to "nature" and "landscapes". The BA degree in Tourism-Mangement Studies furthers students' knowledge and skills in the socio-cultural domain, including language, heritage, music, art and history of the Namibian society. Students no longer do communication, so a foreign language course (instead of communication) and presentation training offered in the Faculty constitute an indispensable complement to the programme.

Programme Convenor: M.E. Kimaro (Tel. 206 3716 – E-mail: mekimaro@unam.na)

E.6.2 Exit Objectives

Upon completion of this programme students will be able to
- apply their skills-based knowledge in professional domains of the public and private sector of the tourism industry
- analyse and evaluate problem formations evolving from institutional, commercial, socio-cultural and environmental tourism activities
- design professional solutions
- demonstrate confidence, capacity and ability in professional judgment and decision-making
- employ professional ethics in dealing with tasks and responsibilities inherent in the private and public sector of the tourism industry to the benefit of society

E.6.3 Admission

E.6.3.1 Refer to C.1 Admission under C. Regulations Pertaining to Undergraduate Studies in the Faculty in this yearbook.

E.8 BSc (Geo-Information Science) (Honours) (13BGIS)
BSc (GIS) (Hons) (13BGIG Geography – for internal purpose only)

E.8.1 Introduction

In the light of the application and proliferation of Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and Remote Sensing (RS) worldwide, this four-year undergraduate programme provides an academic education for students who intend to enter careers employing these novel and contemporary methods and techniques in spatial analysis. The programme deals with finding solutions to complex spatial problems and decision making dependent upon scientific analysis under the umbrella of GIS and RS. Cartography, computer science, information technology, project management, photogrammetry, planning and management science are integral part of this programme. From the second year level (NQF Level 6), this programme is designed to allow students to pursue a major in Geographic Information Science and Remote Sensing, and incorporating either Geography and Environmental Studies or Environmental Biology as a mainstay academic discipline. Courses comprising GIS and RS aim at developing student’s skills and competency in computer programming, database management, spatial data capture, and data representation, GIS theory and GIS project development and implementation. This will respond to possible careers in various fields such as Geography, Geomorphology, Climatology, Forestry, Marketing, Agronomy, Engineering, Transportation, Commerce, Urban and Regional Planning, Nature Conservation, Environmental Impact Assessment and Management as well as Marine and Coastal Management. Courses in communication and presentation offered in the Faculty constitute an indispensable complement to the programme, offering students to further communication and presentation skills for business environments, orally and in writing. In applying these tools, students have an option of employing them from a Geography and Environmental Studies or Environmental Biology perspective.

Programme Convenor: Associate Prof Martin Hipondoka (Tel. 206 3655 – E-mail: mhipondoka@unam.na)

E.8.2 Exit Objectives

Upon completion of the B.Sc. Degree in Geo-Information Science (Honours), students should be able to:

1. Apply geo-information science methods, technologies and applications for observation, analysis and interpretation of geographical information.
2. Demonstrate an understanding of new methods and techniques in Geo-Information Science.
3. Employ competence in developing tools for the acquisition, processing, transformation, analysis, modeling, storage and presentation of spatial data.
4. Design geo-information approach for responding to complex spatial problems and decision making.
5. Explain the scientific process and undertake scientific research in geo-information.
6. Demonstrate essential knowledge of the significance of spatial and temporal scales.
7. Appraise analytical thinking and conceptual skills as well as theoretical insights required for post-graduate studies.

E.8.3 Admission

E.8.3.1 The general admission for the B.Sc. Degree in Geo-Information Science (Honours): A candidate must hold a valid Namibian Senior Secondary Certificate (NSSC) (ordinary or higher) or a recognised equivalent qualification.

English is a compulsory subject and should normally have been obtained as a Second Language at NSSC (O level) with a minimum C symbol, or English as a First Language at NSSC (O level) with a minimum D symbol.

In addition to the above, admission to the B.Sc. (Geo-Information Science) programme of study requires at least a symbol C on NSSC or equivalent qualification in Mathematics and at least a symbol C on NSSC or equivalent qualification in Geography or Biology.

A candidate should obtain a minimum of 25 points on the UNAM Evaluation Point Scale in his/her five (5) best subjects (of which Mathematics and English must be included) to be admitted to undergraduate studies (Refer to the General Admission Criteria for Undergraduate Programmes in the General Information and Regulations Yearbook). Obtaining the minimum number of points, however, does not necessarily ensure admission. Admission is based on places available in courses and awarded on the basis of merit.

The Faculty reserves the right to interview students before admission.

Certain courses or subjects may require special written entry tests for screening candidates before admission is considered.

E.8.4 Curriculum Compilation

E.8.4.1 Overall Structure

The BSc. in Geo-information Science is a single major grounded in Geography and Environmental Studies or Environmental Biology as academic discipline and Computer Science minor. This implies that there are two streams within the programme, Stream A is anchored in Geography and Environmental Studies, whereas stream B is centered in Environmental Biology. The rational is that GIS and RS are spatial analysis tools, which are best utilized by specialists in related academic disciplines. In so doing, graduates are essentially grounded in a professional academic discipline, as opposed to becoming GIS and RS technicians.

At first year level students will take Geo-information Science and Geography and Environmental Studies or Environmental Biology courses. Selected courses from Computer Science, Statistics and Mathematics complement the program. The B.Sc. Degree in Geo-Information Science (Honours) consists of a total of 33 courses (Stream A 536 or Stream B 544 credits including UNAM Core credits), a field work and an excursion.
The overall structure can be schematically represented as follows:

Second Year Level

LAF 3611 Afrikaans Linguistics

Proposed NQF Level: 6  Credits: 16  Contact Hours: 4 hours/week over 14 weeks = 56 contact hours

Prerequisite: None

Content: This course familiarises the student with the scientific study of language structure in Afrikaans. Five topics are covered, although not each exhaustively every year: Phonetics: the human sound-producing system; sound classes and types in Afrikaans; phonetic transcription; Phonology: sound segments and phonemes in Afrikaans; major phonological processes in Afrikaans; Morphology: simplex and complex words; types of morphemes in Afrikaans; derivation and inflection; the major word formation processes and their products; Syntax: the main syntactic categories and structures and their functions in basic sentences; Semantics: the structure of the lexicon; the major lexical relations in the lexicon; the major categories of the relation between semantics and syntax in Afrikaans.

Die kursus stel die student bekend aan die wetenskaplike studie van die struktuur van Afrikaans. Drie van die kernsubdisiplines in die Afrikaanse teoretiese taalwetenskap word behandel: Fonetiek: die menslike spraakapparaat; klinkklasse en -soorte in Afrikaans; fonetiese transkripsie; Morfologie: simplex en komplekse woorde; tipes morfeme in Afrikaans; die belangrikste woordvormingsprosesse en hulle produkte; Sintaksis: die hoofkategorieë en -strukture en hulle funksies in basiese Afrikaanse sinne.

Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 3 hour examination paper)

LAF 3631 Foundations of Dutch Language and Literature

Proposed NQF Level: 6  Credits: 16  Contact Hours: 4 hours/week over 14 weeks = 56 contact hours

Prerequisite: None

Content: Afrikaans is largely derived from Dutch, and the bond between the two languages remains strong. A basic knowledge of the Dutch language and insight into aspects of the Dutch society, culture and literature will develop the student’s appreciation for the close relation between the two languages and their peoples, but also for the marked variation. The course is offered in two components: a language acquisition component and an introductory literature component. Language: Students will acquire basic communicative proficiency in Dutch and focus on the most important differences between Afrikaans and Dutch in terms of country and culture, pronunciation, spelling, grammar and vocabulary. Literature: The literature component follows the language component and the focus is on the reading and comprehension of modern Dutch in newspapers and in short stories.

Afrikaans stam van Nederlands af, en daar bestaan steeds ’n stuwige band tussen die twee tale. Deur die verwenning van ’n basiese taalvaardigheid in Nederlands en ’n bekendstelling aan die Nederlandsse en Vlaamse kultuur en letteratuur, word by die student ’n waardering gekweek vir hierdie noue verbintenis. Wat die taal betref, sal hoofsaaklik gefokus word op die verskille tussen Afrikaans en Nederlands in terme van struktuur en woordekat.

Introduction

Geography and Environmental Studies is offered either as a minor subject to be completed at the end of the third year of study (NQF Level 7), or as a double major to be finalised at the end of the fourth year of study (NQF Level 8). A student in possession of a BA degree with Geography as a double major qualifies to apply for admission to postgraduate studies in Geography, subject to the University’s regulations for postgraduate studies.

The informing study programme offers scientific knowledge in application-orientated geography that is indispensable to the education of responsible and active citizens who care for the sustainable development of their local, regional and national resources in a globalising international economy. It enables students who successfully completed their geographic and environmental studies to exercise their intellectual competence in many fields of public and private sector employment. Students with a particular interest in geographic information systems and spatial analysis with the assistance of land satellite images may obtain a solid foundation for post-graduate studies in areas of spatial analysis, aiming at problem-solving and spatial planning.

<td>Content: This generic course is designed to provide some fundamental tools and concepts required for understanding the sound system of any language. By way of introduction students will become familiarised with the central concerns, concepts and methods of articulatory phonetics as indispensable tool for linguistic studies and investigation. In phonology students will acquire the standard technique to determine which sounds are significant in a particular language; practical analysis will clarify the concept of the phoneme. In the study of sound systems and sound changes students will be enabled to recognise how speech sounds of a language interact with each other. Students shall also appreciate the role of the syllable, and the role of tone or stress in distinguishing meaning in certain languages. The strength of the course lies in its hands-on approach. Students will be familiarised with abstract concepts like the &quot;phoneme&quot; by means of practical case studies, that is, by means of regular exercises to practise the analytic techniques as applied to any language in the world. While the relevance of issues to familiar Namibian languages is pointed out during tuition, only foreign languages will be used for assessment purposes, as the techniques are valid irrespective of the language examined.</td>

<td>This course consists of a common component (14 weeks) attended by students of all African language subjects and a subsequent language-specific component (14 weeks) attended by students of the specific language family only. This course lends itself to project work. Common component: In this component students are acquainted with the relevance of studies in historical linguistics, which studies the development and change of languages over time. An overview over types of classification and over the history of the classification of African and Namibian (Bantu and Khoesaan languages) will introduce students to the evolution of the current views. Students will be equipped for own studies by studying the processes involved in linguistic change as well as the approaches of historical linguistics and methods of reconstruction. LSS 3631 Speech Sounds and Sound Systems

Proposed NQF Level: 5
Credits: 16
Contact Hours: 4 hours/week over 14 weeks = 56 contact hours
Prerequisite: None

Content: This generic course is designed to provide some fundamental tools and concepts required for understanding the sound system of any language. By way of introduction students will become familiarised with the central concerns, concepts and methods of articulatory phonetics as indispensable tool for linguistic studies and investigation.

In phonology students will acquire the standard technique to determine which sounds are significant in a particular language: practical analysis will clarify the concept of the phoneme. In the study of sound systems and sound changes students will be enabled to recognise and describe how speech sounds of a language interact with each other. Students shall also appreciate the role of the syllable, and the role of tone or stress in distinguishing meaning in certain languages.

While the course should enhance any student's general ability to handle issues of spelling and articulation, the course lays the essential foundation for phonetic and phonological studies in specific languages. It is a corequisite for HLHM 3632 Phonology & Morphology of Otjiherero and HLHD 3820 Historical Linguistics of Otjiherero.

Content: This Course represents a research component for which the student will select a research topic in Otjiherero in consultation with the Department of Language and Literature Studies. After selection of a topic, each student will prepare and present a research proposal to his/her supervisor. Following approval of the research proposal, the student will conduct his/her research and write a research paper of between 10 000 and 15 000 words according to Departmental guidelines and with the guidance of the supervisor(s). Alternatively, the student will be trained in the use of dedicated software for linguistic analysis/transcription (e.g. Toolbox, Elan, praat etc.), so as to get a thorough understanding of the morphology of the language, and do a smaller assignment based on that software.

LHD 3820 Historical Linguistics and Dialectology of Ojherero

Proposed NQF Level: 8
Credits: 16
Contact Hours: 2 hours/week over 28 weeks = 56 contact hours

Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level

Content: This Course consists of a common component (about 14 weeks) attended by students of all African language subjects and a subsequent language-specific component attended separately by students of the specific language family only. This course lends itself to project work.

Common component: In this component students are acquainted with the relevance of studies in historical linguistics, which studies the development and change of languages over time. An overview over types of classification and over the history of the classification of African and Namibian (Bantu and Khoesan languages) will introduce students to the evolution of the current views. Students will be equipped for own studies by studying the processes involved in linguistic change as well as the approaches of historical linguistics and methods of reconstruction. An introduction to the principles and concerns of dialectology will prepare them for the language-specific studies and possible projects in them.

Language-specific component: Students will engage in the historical reconstruction and dialectology of Ojherero within its family, with comparative inspection of related languages. Conclusions will be drawn on the pre-colonial history, migrations, cultural contact and language change. Features of dialects of Ojherero will be examined.

F.27 (a) Clinical Psychology (Double Major)

Introduction

The Department of Human Sciences offers Psychology at undergraduate level. The BA could be completed with a double major consisting of psychology as one major subject as well as one other major subject. Psychology can only be taken as a second major in the BA double major programme. (i.e. for students not pursuing a single major in psychology, psychology must be pursued as a minor subject during the 4th year. That is, for a student doing a double major, psychology must be a minor subject. (i.e. such students may not carry out research projects in psychology as they would not qualify into MA Psychology programs). Alternatively, Psychology could be completed as a single major in Clinical Psychology. Students who intend to do a single major at fourth year level must apply to the Head of Psychology Section (in writing) before registration in their 4th year courses (i.e. single major) in Clinical Psychology. The BA programme consists of a total of 36 courses (544 credits).

The purpose of this subject is to:
1. deliver general education in psychological knowledge;
2. emphasise a general basic psychological foundation;
3. enable graduates to deal with demands in the field of either clinical or industrial psychology;
4. expose students to a variety of psychology Courses to prepare them for further studies in either clinical or industrial psychology.

Introduction

The Department of Sociology offers a curriculum that directly addresses core areas of societal concern: development; health; gender and sexuality; poverty and inequality; environment; rural and urban society; work, industry and labour relations; polity and society; demography; economic and socio-cultural transformation. The empirical focus of the curriculum is on Namibian society and its developmental framework, while making strong reference to new developments in Sub-Saharan regional and international sociology.

The curriculum covers the following fields of study:

1. Sociological concepts, paradigms and theories form the one represent the primary intellectual foundation centre of interest which serves to inform all the courses on offer in sociology. At introductory, intermediate and advanced level, the sociology curriculum presents the rich historical and contemporary discursive body of the discipline, so as to develop the student’s analytical, synthetic and conceptual abilities.

2. Methodologies of social research form the second further core focus of the curriculum aimed at systematically building practical research knowledge and instrumental skills during the first three years of academic studies. These capacities, in conjunction with the conceptual acuity insight acquired, will be systematically applied in the final year’s independent research project.

3. The structural-institutional components of society form the the final focus: culture, religion, economy, community, state and polity, family, gender, social divisions and stratification, are prioritised because they have bearing upon the behaviour and action of individuals and groups, and constitute the character of society itself.

4. Throughout the curriculum, Namibian society provides the main backdrop against which sociological theory and empirical evidence is examined. This national mainstreaming prepares the ground, at third and final year level, for in-depth analyses of the post-colonial Namibian setting.

Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level
Content: The course is designed to host individual research projects. Research will be undertaken by the student independently in her/his final year, under the Department's close guidance and supervision. Successful completion requires the presentation of an extensive project report of a minimum of 15 000 words, rated as final year research project. The supervisor(s) allocated to the student will ensure both the strictly sociological focus in the student's choice of topic, as well as substantial sociological content of the research. Methodologically, projects can be either designed as actual field surveys entailing the collection and generation of new data, or conceived as theoretical and documentary or archival research, based on the appropriation and sociological treatment of existing empirical evidence. Supervision will emphasise the epistemological importance of an adequate conceptualisation of the research topic, whether theoretical or empirical research. Thus, the research process will be introduced by the careful exploration of the literary field.
Assessment: Continuous assessment 100% (research project)

SOS 3860 Sociology of Gender and Sexuality

Proposed NQF Level: 8 Credits: 16 Contact Hours: 2 hours/week over 28 weeks = 56 contact hours
Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level
Content: To detect that the social world is largely organised around the gender divide is perhaps one of the most difficult tasks in our current social and political climate. The fact that no two individuals experience the gender system in exactly the same way does not diminish its powerful impact on most individuals. Gender structures shared experiences among categories of people (race, ethnicity, social class) and also their sexual cultures. This is why gender issues have been mainstreamed into the syllabi of the first three years of the BA Sociology curriculum. This final year course aims at an in-depth analysis of the way in which femininity and masculinity are constructed by both industrialised and developing societies. Testing sociological theories of structuralist orientation and of agency, the course will exemplify both approaches: the ways in which societies socialise individuals into gendered identities and roles, and the ways in which individuals appropriate and re-construct them. The second main focus of the course will be to test gender theories within the social and cultural distinctiveness of Namibian society. Topics include: sociological schools in the conceptualisation of gender, i.e. origins of biological sex, origins and strands of feminism; feminist analysis of Namibian society, women's movement in Namibia; sexuality, i.e. sexual identities, sexual cultures, sexual rights, friendship and intimate relationship; reproductive health and HIV/AIDS, safe motherhood, contraception, abortion; concepts of masculinity, construction of masculinities in Namibian society, masculinity and gender-based violence; gender policies and developmental organisations in Namibia, i.e. Women in Development (WID), Women and development (WAD), Gender and Development (GAD), policy approaches of state and civil society; gender and economy, i.e. poverty, empowerment, labour market and work place, gender division of labour, job and salary discrimination; gender and culture, i.e. education, media, cultural traditions and commodified culture; gender and social structure, i.e. gender stratification, gender and class; gender and politics, i.e. women and power, women in politics, the legal framework for the promotion of gender equity.
Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 3 hour examination paper)

SOG 3820 Rural Sociology

Proposed NQF Level: 8 Credits: 16 Contact Hours: 2 hours/week over 28 weeks = 56 contact hours
Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level
Content: The course utilises both lecture and seminar format. It reviews demographic, cultural, spatial and other conceptions of rurality. It examines agriculture, wildlife, fishing, forestry and other natural resources as bases for Namibia’s and southern Africa’s rural economies. It analyses inequalities in land wealth and poverty and associated patterns such as migration. It examines changes to rural areas in the age of globalisation, and their theoretical reflection in the debate of industrial sociology. Namibian labour issues will serve as evidence. Main topical areas of the debate: rural social groups (men and women, elderly and youth), rural people as peasants, land (use, tenure, distribution and reform) land and environmental degradation, rural poverty, migration, natural resources, agriculture and development.
Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 3 hour examination paper)

SOS 3820 Sociology of Industry and Work

Proposed NQF Level: 8 Credits: 16 Contact Hours: 2 hours/week over 28 weeks = 56 contact hours
Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level
Content: The course utilises both lecture and seminar format. It examines the meaning of work in society. It looks at the factory system and its effects on society. Specifically, it analyses different occupations and familiarises students with changes that occur in the world of work due to globalisation. Main topical areas of the debate: impact of industry, varieties of occupations and professions, work and family, job satisfaction and work involvement, alienation at work, industrial relations and trade unions.
Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 3 hour examination paper)

SOZ 3820 Sociology of Health

Proposed NQF Level: 8 Credits: 16 Contact Hours: 2 hours/week over 28 weeks = 56 contact hours
Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level
Content: This course examines the social contexts of physical and mental health and illness. The course gives prominence to the debates, contrasting models and perspectives that characterise the field of sociology of health. Topics include concepts and theoretical frameworks for sociological understandings of health and illness; the individual (self), society and illness; social organisation and political economy of the health care system; the development of health professions, health professionals and the health work force; stratification, inequality and power in health care delivery organisations; health care and bureaucracy; health care and social change; comparative analyses of alternatives to the dominant paradigms of health, illness and healing; ethical issues in health care and contemporary issues in the study of health and illness.

Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 3 hour examination paper)

Prerequisite: Admission to the fourth year level

Content: The course focuses on the urban sections and urban spaces of postcolonial Namibian society. Urbanization has become a prominent trait of the processes of societal change after independence in Namibia. In the urban setting, apartheid legacies still shape life worlds divided along racial and ethnic lines. However, contemporary urban society in Namibia increasingly reflects class patterns. While affluent quarters of society tend to clear away social and spatial boundaries defined by race, urban poverty remains the fate of marginalized black Africans. The mushrooming of informal settlements bears witness to this. The course combines the analysis of social conditions of urban living with their projection on urban spaces of living. Mobility creates new forms of social inequality that are reflected in contrasting urban environments. With this insight, it aims at providing sound knowledge for the development of sustainable urban planning. The course examines concepts and theories of urban living, while providing training in demographic and statistical methods, in particular introducing the Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS) based in computer-laboratory teaching. Lastly, it prepares the student for ethnographic approach to research.

Introduction

The University of Namibia’s BA degree programme which allows students to take a Visual Arts major complementary to other humanities and social science subjects is unique in the region. The appeal of this option and of the market related emphasis in the Visual Arts Curricula is demonstrated by the increasing number of students from throughout the SADC region choosing to register for Visual Arts courses in the Department of Visual and Performing Arts. The curricula are structured in such a way that they provide students with the opportunity to grow creatively and academically towards obtaining a qualification for future employment.

The following Visual Arts disciplines can be taken as major or minor subjects in the BA degree programme:

1. Art for Advertising
2. Fashion Studies
3. Textiles Studies
4. Creative Expression
5. Visual Culture

Exit objectives

Art for Advertising as an ‘applied art’ subject promotes an entrepreneurial focus, training advertising practitioners. By the end of their study in Arts for Advertising students should be able to:

- Apply their knowledge and skills to the solution of design problems in their chosen field.
- Demonstrate understanding of local business requirements in their chosen field.
- Demonstrate the capacity to make professional judgements and take appropriate decisions.

- The supervisor(s) allocated to the student will ensure a strictly social science gender focus in the student's choice of topic, as well as the subsequent line of enquiry up to completion;
- Methodologically, projects can be either designed as actual field surveys, entailing the collection and generation of new data, or conceived as theoretical and documentary or archival research;
- Supervision will emphasize the importance of an adequate epistemological conceptualisation of the research topic in both theoretical and empirical terms;
- At the outset, the research process shall begin with a careful exploration of substantial gender literature on the chosen topic, followed by establishment of sound methodological procedures prior to actual fieldwork and data analysis writing. Fieldwork will follow, under the scrutiny of the supervisor;
- In the case of documentary or literature-based research (as opposed to empirical fieldwork), investigation of a substantial range of literature materials will be required, but only following the establishment of a suitable methodological research framework designed to convincingly carry the work forward to completion;

The required outcome of the chosen research design must result in the timely submission of a satisfactory and substantive body of largely original work, approved internally by the supervisor, and externally.

Assessment: Thesis will be examined by at least one internal and one external examiner of which the average mark will contribute 100% to the final mark of the research thesis in gender.

Students will adopt a deductive approach, and begin with a concept, then create empirical measures that precisely capture it in the form that can be expressed numerically. Students will acquire knowledge on non-probability and probability sampling. Students will be introduced to experimental research and survey research. Furthermore, students will learn how to deal with data and the analysis of quantitative data. Students will also learn how to present data and write a research report.
Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 3 hour examination paper)

H.5 Diploma in Visual Arts
Dipl Visual Arts (13DPVA)

H.5.1 Introduction

A significant number of young people in Namibia having skill or aptitude in the visual arts have recognised the possibility of developing this ability into a career. However, due largely to having experienced educational disadvantage, they have not sufficient entry points to gain admittance to the University's degree programmes. It is for such students that the Department of Visual and Performing Arts has introduced this intermediate qualification, giving them the opportunity to develop their creative and entrepreneurial potential.

Programme Convener: Ms C McRoberts (tel. 206 3026 – E-mail: cmcroberts@unam.na)

H.5.2 Exit Objectives

Apart from the obvious benefits of personal development and the academic foundation that the visual arts curricula provide to Higher Diploma in Visual Arts holders, they function within the context of the real world. The "applied" subjects – Art for Advertising, Ceramics Studies, Fashion Studies and Textiles Studies – promote an entrepreneurial focus, training advertising practitioners, ceramic designers, fashion designers and textile designers. The more philosophy-centred subjects – Visual Culture and Creative Expression – focus on cultural domains such as gallery art, tourism, education and heritage. Higher Diploma in Visual Arts holders find employment as self-supporting artists, gallery and museum curators, community project developers, educational officers, workers in the field of cultural tourism, and teachers.

H.5.3 Admission Requirements

English is a compulsory subject and should have been obtained at English as a First/Second Language NSSC level, symbol D or higher.

H.5.2.2 A candidate can be admitted to the programme through the University's Mature Age Entry Scheme (cf. 7.4 in the General Information and Regulations Yearbook).

H.5.2.3 In borderline cases, a student may be admitted to the programme if he/she satisfies any one (1) of the following requirements:

<td>Content: This course has both a practical and a theoretical component. Practical: Students will learn about tapestry weaving technique, felted fabrics and applied decoration in the form of appliqué and embroidery. They will produce examples of each technique covered in the course and a final piece that reflects their own researches. Theoretical: Theory will include aspects of the history of the different techniques, particularly in Africa. Students will look at the ways in which hand crafted textiles are produced and marketed nowadays. The course focuses particularly on the Namibian carpet industry and the use of embroidery and appliqué to produce home textiles in Namibia. The history of constructed textiles is a massive subject, as is that of sewn decoration. It is not possible to cover more than a small part of this history in one course. The topics covered in this course should however prove interesting and stimulating and encourage further investigation. Assessment: Continuous assessment 60% : Examination 40% (1 x 2 hour examination paper including exhibition/presentation)</td>

G.6 Advanced Diploma in Translation

G.6.1 Aims and Objectives

The aim of this programme is to train professional translators for Namibia. Because of its multilingual society, Namibia is in need of qualified translators. These needs are particularly acute in the field of science and technology, in the field of law, in the tourism industry as well as in the media (print as well as radio and television). Thus the University will be instrumental in filling an existing void.

Programme Co-ordinator: Prof. M Zappen-Thomson (tel. 206 3856; E-mail: mzappen@unam.na)

G.6.2 Programme Specific Admission Requirements

G.6.1.1 To be admitted to the ADT programme, a student must be in possession of at least a 3 year Diploma recognised at NQF level 6 or equivalent or through the Mature Age Entry Scheme. Subject to the general regulations of the University, applicants will be admitted to the programme only after successful completion of an aptitude test.

G.6.1.2 Subject to the general regulations of the University, applicants will be admitted to the programme only after successful completion of an aptitude test.

G.6.3 Duration of Study

The ADT programme can be completed in a minimum of two (2) years and a maximum of three (3) years on part-time study basis.

G.6.4 Examinations

Students will only write examinations in HLTR 2710 Translation. All the skills and knowledge acquired in the other courses, which are being assessed continuously, will flow into the translation processes (cf. the relevant course descriptors below).

Each student will write two papers. They will select the translation direction and therefore either write one translating from A → B and one B → A or two papers A → B only. The weight of the examinations is equal. The selected translation direction will be articulated on each graduate’s diploma certificate so as to ensure that the graduate enters the job market with a clear indication of her/his competencies. (This clause is of particular importance for students for whom both languages are in essence non-mother-tongue languages.)
