Time: 09:00 to 13:00

Venue: (Library Auditorium), UNAM Main Campus

About workshop:

In this course, we would like to introduce students to research at the intersection of developmental psychology, cross-cultural psychology, and evolutionary anthropology. In an interactive seminar, we will engage in discussions and activities that explore how cross-cultural perspectives, with a focus on African contexts, contribute to a better understanding of the developmental foundations and processes underlying human cognition and experience.
